There is a "preferred answer" for each statement the individual responds to. When one person does not agree with the preferred answer, the results page will indicate that item is to be discussed with the couple, using the Facilitator's Guide as a reference. The items that are bolded and in caps are Priority Statements. These carry more "weight" than the other statements when leading discussion. Priority Statements can also be used as a way to affirm the couple if they are both in agreement with the statement.

The results are sent to the email provided by the parish (pastor, deacon, etc.) The results are NOT sent to the couple.
